Performance displayed represents past performance, which is no guarantee of future results. Investment returns and principal value will fluctuate so that when shares are redeemed, they may be worth more or less than original cost. Total returns reflect the reinvestment of all dividends. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data quoted. For up-to-date performance, including performance current to the most recent month-end, visit our web site at www.currencyshares.com. The NAV and Market Close Performance may differ. A major reason for the difference is that timing discrepancies can exist between the NAV, which is calculated using the WM/Reuters Closing Spot Rate, and Market Close, which is calculated using Closing Price (last trade). The WM/Reuters Closing Spot Rate is the exchange rate of the U.S. dollar and the applicable foreign currency as determined by WM/Reuters as of 4:00 PM London Time. For additional information please see trust's prospectus.

¹ Partial year returns are cumulative, not annualized. Performance results are short-term and may not provide an adequate basis for evaluating the performance potential of the fund over varying market conditions or economic cycles. ²Source: Federal Reserve Bank of New York and WM/Reuters. Prior to 11/13/2008 NAV was calculated using the Noon Buying Rate, as determined by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. ³Source: WM/Reuters and Federal Reserve Bank of New York. As of 11/13/2008 the benchmark for the trust was changed. The benchmark performance shown above reflects a composite of the old benchmark performance (since inception to 11/12/2008) and the new benchmark performance (11/13/2008 to the most recent quarter end). Prior to 11/13/2008 the benchmark for the trust was the Noon Buying Rate as determined by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

ABOUT THE MEXICAN PESO

The Mexican peso is the national currency of Mexico and the currency of the accounts of the Bank of Mexico. Subsequent to the redenomination of the Mexican peso in 1993, the official currency code for the peso is "MXN." As of April 2007, the Mexican peso is the twelfth most traded currency in the world.

INTEREST ON DEPOSITORY ACCOUNT

JPMorgan Chase Bank, the Depository for the Trust, maintains a deposit account denominated in Mexican pesos. Interest earned by the Trust, if any, will accrue daily and will be used to pay Trust expenses. Any excess interest will be distributed to shareholders monthly. Rydex|SGI will disclose the most current interest rate on www.CurrencyShares.com.

BENEFITS⁴

- Investors may wish to invest in FXM in order to take advantage of short-term tactical or long-term strategic opportunities
- An investor that believes that the U.S. dollar is weakening relative to the Mexican peso may capitalize on the potential movement
- Investors who believe that the currency is overvalued relative to the U.S. dollar may choose to sell CurrencyShares, including short sales as permitted by the SEC
- Investors will be able to access the Mexican peso market through a traditional brokerage account and the shares will trade daily on the NYSE Arca

RISKS TO CONSIDER

- The Trust is nondiversified and fluctuations in the price of the Mexican peso could materially and adversely affect the value of the shares
- Factors impacting the price of the Mexican peso include, but are not limited to national debt levels and trade deficit, inflation rates, domestic and foreign interest rates, and substantial sales of Mexican peso by central banks or other government agencies
- Shares of the Trust are not insured against loss by the FDIC or any other federal agency
- Shareholders will not have the protections associated with ownership of shares in an investment company registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940

THREE YEAR FUND DATA⁵ (AS OF 06/30/2010)

Annualized Standard Deviation ⁶	13.40
R-Squared ⁷	10.87
Beta ⁸	0.16
Sharpe Ratio ⁹	0.01

⁶ Standard Deviation: A statistical measure of the historical volatility of an investment, usually computed using 36 monthly returns. More generally, a measure of the extent to which numbers are spread around their average. The higher the number, the more volatility is to be expected.

⁷ R-Squared: A measurement of how closely an investment's performance correlates with the performance of a benchmark, such as the S&P 500[®], and thus a measurement of what portion of its performance may be explained by the performance of the overall market or index. Values for R-squared range from 0 to 100, where 0 indicates no correlation and 100 indicates perfect correlation.

⁸ Beta: A measure of a fund's sensitivity to market movements. The Beta of the market is 1.00 by definition. Morningstar calculates Beta by comparing a fund's excess return over Treasury bills to the market's excess return over Treasury bills, so a Beta of 1.10 shows that the fund has performed 10% better than its benchmark index in up markets and 10% worse in down markets, assuming all other factors remain constant. Conversely, a Beta of 0.85 indicates that the fund's excess return is expected to perform 15% worse than the market's excess return during up markets and 15% better during down markets.

⁹ Sharpe Ratio: A risk-adjusted measure developed by William F. Sharpe, calculated using standard deviation and excess return to determine reward per unit of risk. The higher the Sharpe Ratio, the better the fund's risk-adjusted performance.
